

Highlights 2014 Black Writers Conference New York

Booktv.org

Publishing Industry Panel.

Business insider's talk about challenges and the impact of the Web on aspiring writers, small independent bookstores, and other members of the industry.

And the audience Q & A provides further glimpses into interesting examples of people who venture into different forms of writing and marketing their work.

Literature Panel

Poet, activist, teacher Askia Toure reveals a little known fact: Black militant writers of his era took interest in other cultures and writers not just their own. For instance, Japanese, Cuban, Mexican, Irish, Chilean.
